anticipated, and f the exhibition has been such that few of he visitors to the show have been disappointed. The sight of so many fine animals enthered together in one hall is so unusual that the benches are especially interesting. and the performing dogs have certainly done much to add to the success of the show. The crowds at the evening performnces are larger than at any other time durng the day. It is curious to note how the dogo-the St. Bernards, mastiffs and at Danes-seem to fascinate the visitors. The first place to which most of them go on entering the door of the hall is the bench where the big dogs are confined, and, though the women coming to the cage of Melac stand at a safe distance from the extreme length of his chain while he utters his basso profundo barks, there is no doubt a good deal of admiration qualifying the evi-cent dread.

PLATO, THE RAILROAD DOG. One of the most interesting dogs in the thow is Plate, known in his own town of Anderson as Plato Manville, from the name of the man who owns him. His master is a inductor on the Michigan division of the title of the railroad dog. His chief delight is to stay around the railroad yards at home and jump on and off moving locomotives in the yard. He frequently jumps on the loco-mistive of an outgoing train and rides until he meets a train coming in, when he will get into the baggage-car and ride back home. Next to the big dogs, the pugs-snubby Little fellows with jet black muzzles-seem nitract the most attention from the wonice. One of the finest of the pugs is on the bench on the stage, and is so well couned and well cared for that any one in have guessed it was a pet of some bun. The owner of the dog came in lythis morning, as she has every morning with hardly a glance at the magnit epecimens on every side of her, ked straight to the stage and to the kenwalked stealch to the stage and to the ken-nel of her pet. He lay alleep and did not stem to care to see his mistress, and in response to her fondling would only lie still andgrunt. For twenty minutes she stood by her dog and every minute or two would look around furtively. Finally the stage was clear and there was no one close to her, was clear and there was no one close to her, and, with a hurried glance around, she hugged the little dog in her arms and imprinivit a warm kiss on his wet muzzle.

AT THE ST. BERNARD BENCH,

Roger Williams, of Lexington, Ky, was appointed one of the judges, but owing to iliness was unable to be present in time for the duty. He is now here, however, and was present at the dog show to-day. He said: "Indianapolis has been unfortunate in having a small dog show in connection with the spring poultry show. This has led the people of Indianapolis not to expect much in the way of bench shows, and many of them do not imagine how good a show they have in their cit?" He said the show here was proving as great a success and was as was proving as great a success and was as well managed as in any city in the circuit. "BEEF'S" DIFFICULTY IN THE RING.

Batcheler has among his performing dogs at the show a bulldog known as "Beef."
Beef has a bad disposition, and has been teased so much that the slightest thing starts him to biting. This morning while the dogs were being exercised in the ring he managed to slip into the ring, and while he managed to slip into the ring, and while there was terribly insulted by a small King School-house. Some of the candidates to be presented are: For trustee, J. B. Thompstensels. In a minute Beef had him by the neck, tossed him in the air, grappled him by the legs as he fell down, swung him around neck, tossed him in the air, grappled him by the legs as he fell down, swung him around the legs as he tell down, swang him around a few times and started to chew him up generally.' The King Charles Seaniel would undoubtedly have been no more but ar old lady who was standing at the ring-side and had seen it all, reached over with hez umbrella and produced Beet in the ribs. In a minute the umbrella was gone from her hands and the services of Batcheler still two handlers were necessary to separate the buildog, the umbrella and the Sponiel. Among the performing dogs is a hound that turns a somersault over another hound.

He put his leclination on the ground that he had delined several previous invitations to preclined several previous invitations to pre-side over international conferences to be held during the World's Fair, and that to accept this one would make it appear that he was trifling with those who had heretofore ex-tended similar invitations. Mr. Wines says the committee, in search of a pre-siding officer for international promthe committee, in search of a pre-siding officer for international prom-inence, has several other persons in mind. He named among them Albert G. Porter, of this city, and Andrew D. White, minister to Russia. "We are anxious," said he, "to secure the services of a man who is known to all the nations that will be represented at the great meeting. We felt that we ought to give ex-President Harrison an opportunity to take up the work which ex-President flayes laid down; if he doesn't desire to accept the opportunity, we shall, of course, have to look elsewhere."

State Board of Health Meeting. The State Board of Health reorganized esterday afternoon by electing Dr. S. S. Boots, of Greenfield, president, and Dr. Whitesides, of Frankin, vice-president. Secretary Metcalf's term has not expired. Dr. Taylor and Dr. Whitesides were appointed to represent the board at the sanitary conference at New York, and Dr. Ramsey and Dr. Boots were appointed to attend the meeting of the American Public Health Association at Chicago. It was di-rected that the State be divided into four-districts, and that one be assigned to each member of the board. The secretary was ordered to send a letter to all county and town boards instructing them to place their districts in good sanitary condition. The State sanitary conference will be held here on April 27.

ONE OF LAST YEAR'S DIRECTORS DISCUSSES THE SITUATION.

He Recalls the Financial Report and Points Out Where the Guaranters Might Have Been Saved Some-thing by Strict Economy.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., March 29 .- Anent the charges against Architect Stem of improperly making money out of the May Music Festival Association, your correspondent, following instructions, called to-day upon Charles E. Coffin, who is sojourning at this place and who was chairman of the finance committee at the time referred to. My task was simplified by the fact that Mr. Coffin had just finished reading the full account in THE NEWS of the 27th inst.

In reply to questions Mr. Coffin said he should be greatly surprised if it could be shown that Mr. Stem had made any money in connection with the May Festival; that his acceptance of a place on the directory was equivalent to a pledge of honor that all necessary services rendered should be on the same terms as those rendered by the rest of the directors, to-wit, without charge. In reply to the questions whether Mr. Stem had devoted unusual time to the work and within the order. It is denied that Somethy had supreme control. The whole end aimed at in this case is the appointment of the receiver. When that is accomplished all has been done. If this is the whole end of the proceeding this court could in no case look at the complaint to see whether it conferred upon the court jurisdiction to appoint a receiver. The court of equity has no jurisdiction to appoint a receiver, except as an incident to some other relief, and this limitation is just as effective as a preventive. There are direct charges of fraud and mal-administration against Somerby, but the constitution provides a clear and adequate means of removing him. There are charges of extravagance and mismanangement, but the constitution are charges of extravagance and mismanangement, but the constitution provides a clear and adequate means of extravagance and mismanangement, but the constitution provides a clear and adequate means of extravagance and mismanangement, but the constitution to the constitution are charges of extravagance and mismanangement, but the constitution to the constitution are constituted to the work and incurred expenses not refunded to him, Mr. Coffin said that he devoted no more time than at least four or five other directors, and as to expenses for telegrams, etc., he presented bills for all of his expenditures, which were duly audited and paid, as the report of the treasurer, Mr. Ferd E. Mayer, will show, and that he could not properly have received any compensation by way of commissions, directly or indirectly, without the knowledge and consent of the board.

Asked whether Mr. Stem had devoted unusual time to the work and incurred expenses not refunded to him, Mr. Coffin said that he devoted no more time than at least four or five other directors, and as to expenses for telegrams, etc., he presented bills for all of his expenditures, which were duly audited and paid, as the report of the treasurer, Mr. Ferd E. Mayer, will show, and that he could not properly have received any compensation any compensation, even for actual expenses incurred. Was there any deficit to make up after the festival, and, if so, how was it met?" "So far as the guarantors were concerned "So far as the guarantors were concerned, there was none. There was, in fact, a shortage of between $000 and $700, which was unnecessary, the particulars of which were fully set out in the report of the finance committee to the board after the festival, a copy of which is on file with the records in Mr. Stem's possession."

"Why did not this deficit concern the guarantes?"

guarantors?"
"Because it was made up by the directors and a few of their friends."
"Do you object to state whether Mr. Stem contributed toward wiping out the deficit?" "No. My recollection is that he declined contribute."

'What would you say to the intimation Training of this is sneer trilling. Everybody knows that the price paid for attractions might have been abated by exactly the sum paid the secretary as commission, and hence that it was essentially abstracted from our revenue."

Turning questioner Mr. Coffin asked: "Do

u suppose the other members of the rectory would have served with Mr. Stem an hour with knowledge of such-facts?

The stem did not hold himself out as a broker, but posed as a public-spirited citizen. No one can rightfully receive secret commissions in any transaction. Suppose all the directory, some of whom are in the brokerage business, had secretly connived important of the kind ever held. It is expected that there will be present delegates from charitable societies in all parts of the world. He says he expects that great good will come from the conference.

Mr. Harrison declined the invitation ex-I withdrew from the association previous to the election of the present directory, and hence can do nothing officially, but if the pre-ences opinion of Mr. Stem personally, whom I have known for many years and whose in-this tegrity I have never doubted."

Last Year's Finance Committee. Messrs. Shaffer and Mayer, members of the finance committee, who would know of the matters referred to by Mr. Coffin, are out of the city. Other members of last years' board say that they paid about $33 each to make up a deficit. Mr. Stem says he has contributed to the guarantee fund every year except one. The deficit last year, members say, grew out of the fact that $150 was paid for a rehearsal the fact that $150 was paid for a rehearsal that had not been provided for, but that ought to have been in the contract, and out of the cost for music and other extras.

Ex-D rector Kipp says he knows nothing of the financial reports, but found fault with Mr. Stem when he (Kipp) was on the board because Stem had a weakness for charging "extras."

Mayor Sullivan says there is no desire or intention to keep the charter secret; that so soon as it is completed it will be made public, but there is no use, he 'says, in giving it out partially completed. The delay is caused by an important point that involves legal matters. It is believed that the city should have control of the streets, and should have the power to order the extension of lines. Such a provision it finished by Saturday. Mayor Sullivan says there is no desire or intention to keep the extension of lines. Such a provision will be put in the ordinance. The penalty for refusing to extend lines as ordered will be abrogation of the charter, but it is a legal question if this can be enforced.

In the evening, at the hour appointed for the anniversary meeting of the Freedman's Aid and Southern. Educational Society, the Methodist church was so crowded to hear the address by the Rev. Dr. W. H. W. Rees, general secretary, that an overflow meeting was held in the Presbyterian church near by, presided over by the Rev. J. S. Bitler, of Kokomo. The address of Dr. Rees was well received, and abounded with interesting facts and figures regarding the schools in the South and the great work being accomplished among the poor whites and blacks in the South and West.

At the meeting of the North Indiana Conference to-day, C. C. Albertson, at his request, was transferred to the Erie conference. J. W. Welch, M. S. Marble and G. N. Eldridge were appointed commissioners to audit the accounts of the conference secretary. In the evening, at the hour appointed for Coroner Beck has spent all of to-day, as ne did all of yesterday, in investigating the death of Mrs. Minerva Wadley, which occurred at 721/2 North Delaware street last week. Neighbors said there were suspicious circumstances surrounding the death of the woman from the start, and a rumor gained ground that she had been choked to death. The autopsy showed that she had died from strangulation, but the doctors could not decide as to whether it was by force from the outside or from some disease. Much evidence has been taken, and some of it was to the effect that the husband of the dead woman often abused her. He was the last person with her before she died, and he admits having struck

Morrison as candidate for the apperintendency of the Central Insane Hospital The opinion was of the Central Insane Hospital. The opinion was expressed that "the spoilsmen and boodlers" have interfered and have sought to force the board to change the policy adopted by Superintendeut Wright and to throw open the institution to the party workers. It has been understood that Dr. Morrison's appointment would mean a continuance of Dr. Wright's policy and his withdrawal because of the introduction of political stipulations was halled by the spoilsmen as a victory.

The ordinance creating the office of plumbing inspector will go into effect in a short time, and then the Board of Public Health will appoint an inspector, whose salary is $1,500 a year. There are four applicants for the position. Henry T. Hudson is indorsed by the politicians, Alex Ramsey by the journeymen plumbers and unions, James Brennan by the master plumbers, and John C. Dunn, who is also supported by the "ours." The board has not considered the subject.

The work of indexing the records will begin in a short time. It will be done by Miss Josephine Ripley.

The work of cleaning up the alleys continues. In a short time the board hopes to put on more inspectors.

Mayor Sullivan will sign the garbage ordinance passed at the last session of Council. He says that Mr. Laut's amendment will not in any way interfere with its working.

South West Street Improvement.

Several property owners who do not want West street, from Kemtneky avenue to Morris, improved, have employed an attorney and will bring suit for an injunction to prevent the paving of the street either with brick or asphalt. They say they favor the improvement recently ordered by the Board of Public Works, but want it deferred for a year. The board says that a majority of the property owners want the improvement recently ordered by the Board of Public Works, but want it deferred for a year. The board says that a majority of the property owners want the improvement recently ordered by the Board of Public Works, but want it deferred for a year. The board of visitors arrive here next fall.
